-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --
Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 25 July 2005.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of group I, claims 1-8 in the reply filed on 7/25/2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that a thorough search for the subject matter of Group I claims would necessarily encompass a search and examination of the entire application without any serious burden. This is not found persuasive because claims of group II-III require search in other classes/areas.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Randolph et al. [US 3,461,413] in view of Jones [US 2,007,161].

Randolph et al. discloses inductive component comprising :

- a molded bobbin [10] having a hollow portion ;
- at least one core inserted into the hollow portion of the bobbin; and
- a copper shielding layer [29] formed on an outer surface of the winding portion [11] of the bobbin.

Randolph et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for the specific of tubing.

Jones et al. discloses an induction device [figures 6-7] comprising :

Art Unit: 2832

- a spool-like structure upon the winding can be wound ;
- a core structure;
- a shielding structure [17]; and
- a cooling tube/channel/conduit [20, 25, 38, 43] arranged outside of the core structure;

and

- cooling water flows into the tube/channel/conduit.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to use the cooling tube/channel/conduit design of Jones et al. into Randolph et al. for the purpose of providing cooling for the transformer.

Regarding claim 3, thermal epoxy is a known material for the bobbin/spool. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to use thermal epoxy for the bobbin of Randolph et al. for the purpose enhancing thermal properties.

Regarding claim 4, copper is a known material for heat transfer.

Regarding claims 5-6, the specific arrangement of the tubing would have been an obvious design consideration for the purpose of providing better heat transfer.

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to TUYEN T. NGUYEN whose telephone number is 571-272-1996. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F 8:30-6:30.
